

FRANK C. DRAKE, ARTIST-WRITER, DIES IN HOSPITAL

Art Director of The World and Liberties League Head Succumbs After Operation.

Frank Cornelius Drake, general art director of The World, died early this morning in Post Graduate Hospital of uraemic poisoning which followed an operation for an ailment of the hip. He was fifty years old and had been in the newspaper profession as writer, artist and art director thirty-two years.

The funeral of Mr. Drake will be held at Grace Church Chapel, Broadway and Tenth Street, at 3 o'clock to-morrow afternoon. The Rev. Charles Walkley will officiate. The burial will be at Palmyra, N. Y., Sunday morning.

Known by many handbills in that field of endeavor, he was known by many thousands of those in an avocation that filled part of his private life—for it was Mr. Drake who organized the American Liberties League in opposition to the Volstead act, and he conceived, executed and headed the Anti-Prohibition Parade of July 4 last.

A man of extreme temperance in habits and manner, Frank Drake protested vigorously against the curtailment of personal liberties brought about by the Eighteenth Amendment, and he devoted time, labor and money to fighting it. He was to have attended a public meeting of his organization at Washington in a fortnight.

His newspaper career was one of splendid achievement. He was born at Palmyra, N. Y., and was educated at the College of the City of New York. His father, John N. Drake, was a publisher. He entered journalism as a staff artist for the Philadelphia Record in 1890. He went to the Chicago Tribune later, and to the New York Times in 1895; a year later he became art director of the New York Tribune and there devised the four corners printing half-toned of news pictures and ordinary newspaper news.

Mr. Drake was a man of wide art work, and in 1908 he joined the Sunday World as a specialist in that line. A year later he was made art director of the Metropolitan newspaper. In 1911 he was placed in charge of the art work of the paper, and he remained in that position until he came to the hospital a few days ago for an operation.

He was a member of the Society of Illustrators and the Authors' League, and was one of those rare individuals equally expert with the written word and the drawn line. He finished, just before his death, a history of the Erie Canal, in which he had held a lifelong interest because he was born near its banks.

Mr. Drake is survived by his wife.

OLD COMMANDERS AID NEGRO WHO FOUGHT

Judge Nott Accepts War Veteran's Plea of Manslaughter.

Lawrence Joaquin, twenty-five, No. 2460 Seventh Avenue, a Negro who distinguished himself in France, where he fought with Col. Hayward's celebrated 369th Infantry (the old 15th), was sentenced to Sing Sing for six to twelve years by Judge Nott in the Court of General Sessions to-day on his plea of guilty of manslaughter in the first degree. He had been indicted for first degree murder for cutting the throat of Mrs. Helena Jackson, a Negroess, in his apartment.

Col. Hayward, now United States District Attorney, telegraphed to Judge Nott from Palm Beach asking clemency for Joaquin because of his war record. Col. Arthur Little, now head of the regiment, said Joaquin's conduct had done much in winning the Croix de Guerre for the regiment. Judge Nott said he had taken the various pleas into account in fixing the sentence.

GETS WELL WITH NO SPLEEN.

Walter Hopewell, pupil at Manual Training High School, whose spleen was removed last Monday following a tobogganing accident at Millrift, Pa., probably will recover, it was said yesterday at the Methodist Episcopal Hospital, where the operation was performed. He was "doing nicely," the surgeons said.

POLICE ARREST NEGRO WHO ADMITS HOLDUP

Identified by Delicatessen Store Owner As One of Robbers.

Charged with robbery and assault, Suggs Flazel, twenty-three, a Negro of No. 73 West 131st Street, was arrested last night by Detective Redding of the West 123d Street Station on the complaint of William Bushno, a delicatessen store keeper of No. 561 Lenox Avenue.

Bushno identified the prisoner as one of two men who entered his store on the night of Sept. 11 last and at the point of a gun attempted to take the contents of the cash register. Bushno wielded a meat knife with such alacrity that he scared off the two intruders, but not until one of them fired a shot which penetrated Bushno's shoulder. According to the police, Flazel admitted being implicated in the attempted robbery, but denies having fired the shot.

TWO ARRESTED FOR HOLD-UP IN STABLE

Victim Had Been Confined in Hospital Since Robbery.

Straki Haurish of No. 111 Goerck

Street, a hostler, had saved $2,300.25, which he carried in a belt about his waist. Last November, in a stable at No. 590 Water Street, he was accosted by four men who took his money. Haurish broke down and had been confined to a hospital until several days ago.

To-day Detectives Kemp and Sirojahan of the Clinton Street station, arrested John Krozolink, thirty-seven, of No. 10 Cannon Street, and John Mikko, twenty-five, of No. 332 East 10th Street. Both admit participating in the robbery, but they got only $70 each, for "the banker—he take all the money," they said. Krozolink admits holding a gun, the police say.

They're all "keen" for ARMOUR'S OATS

Mother smiles because she can put them on to cook when she starts the coffee—they're both done at the same time.

Father says of course they're good to eat, but he likes 'em because they give him substantial energy for a day's work.

And the most important member of the household—she isn't interested in the fact that they're one of the greatest body builders known. Her eyes sparkle just because she likes that good oat flavor.
